People as Individuals are paradoxes . . .
 they each bear a common title,

 They are Leaders . . .

 part in campus clean-up.
 Their titles begin with a variety of letters whether it be Girlstater, Class secretary, crewman, or member. Individuals are sometimes faces in the crowd, yet each countenance reveals an unique personality. They know the worth and enjoyment of a group . . . yet when alone they are never lonely. Individuals succeed in captivating the audience in the "Miracle Worker" or displaying their versatility on "Chris Columbus Day" or fail in their attempt to capture the volleyball championship, or pass a math test after a long night of studying . . . yet, in all things, Individuals are people who act in accordance with What They Believe.

Principal project — beautification of campus

Valentine Lunch — Sister joins Juniors

Feast Day Fun — Sister donned western garb

Situation reversed — parents back to school

A challenge . . . an acceptance . . . a fulfillment. The sensational sixties brought a new principal to Xavier High School in the person of Sister Mary Katrine, B.V.M. Dedicated to the idea that each student is an unique individual, she accepted the challenge of providing an education attuned to personal growth and development.

The first changes were minor, but they were indicative of future plans. Uniform bow ties disappeared and "blue beanies" were forgotten.

Sister combined her green-thumb and quiet determination to a campus beautification program. Seemingly overnight it happened . . . roses bloomed, evergreen trees were revitalized, and the grass became conducive to picnicking. Later, gatherings were encouraged by the construction of benches along the south wall. Under the sponsorship of the Mother's Club, a blacktop parking lot replaced a field of dirt and mud. A new entrance was lined with palm trees and a grilled gate proclaimed the name of Xavier.

Everywhere, Sister encouraged growth. Her up-grading of spiritual activities paralleled the spirit of renewal in the Church. Xavier joined Brophy for First Friday Masses, and a marriage course by the Jesuit fathers for Senior students was initiated.

These outward changes were a reflection of the increased opportunities for individual development. Frequent assemblies, song-fests and talent shows were encouraged. Student leaders were given added responsibility and voice in school activities instead of more regulations.

Always aware of the changing world, she gave Xavier students a "new look" as multi-plaid skirts and bright yellow sweaters replaced blue and white uniforms, and the 'thud, thud' of saddle oxfords gave way to the 'clock, clock' of black loafers.

Realizing that individual guidance is vital to a student's growth, Sister added a full-time counselor so girls could seek advice by merely dropping in for a "chat" in the relaxed atmosphere of a new office. A beautiful new faculty lounge was the envy of all.

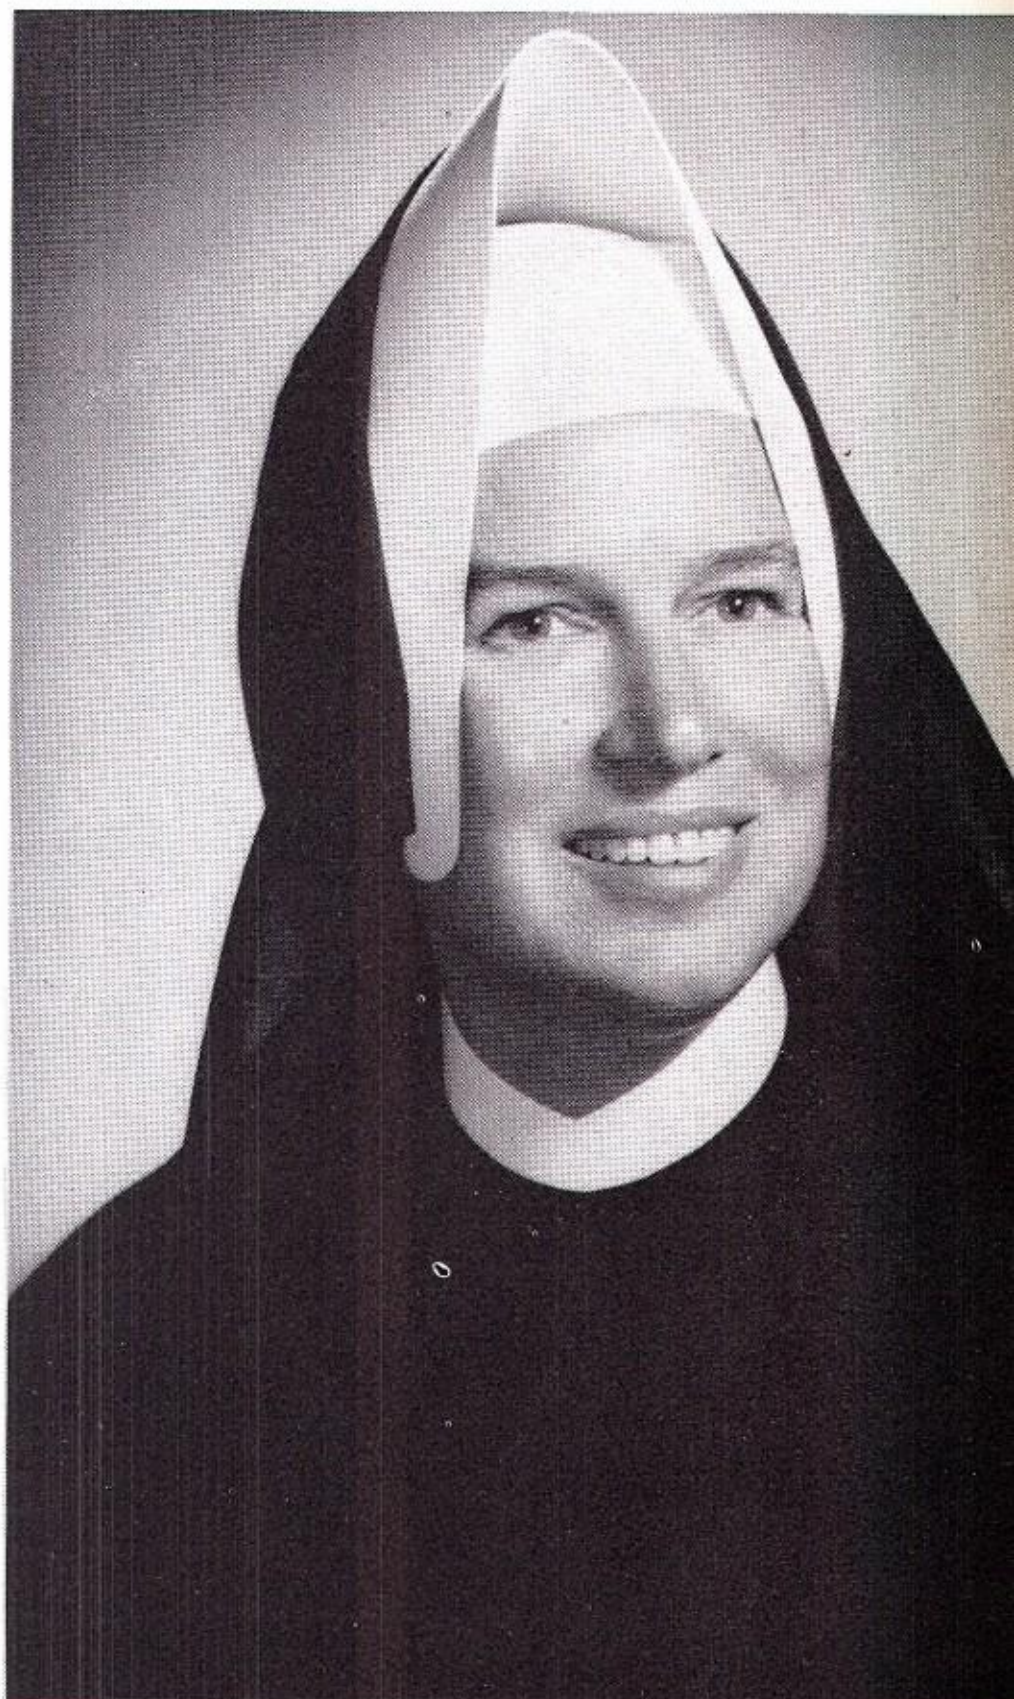

People exist, they conform, or they stand as individuals. But those reaching even greater heights are people dedicated to the Formation of Individuals. Sister is the strength behind Xavier — moulding and motivating girls to meet responsibilities of womanhood. In the spirit of our representation of PEOPLE, we dedicate the 1966 Xavierian to Sister Mary Katrine, B.V.M.

MOST REV. FRANCIS J. GREEN
Bishop of Tucson

Pacesetters for

The administration of Xavier and the guiding light of its progress in the educational process is in the hands of five important persons within the diocese of Tucson. Each of the honored holds an individual but vitally important place in the framework and final outcome in their willing dedication to Xavier.

From Bishop Francis J. Green, the spiritual and temporal leader of the diocese, come the final decisions so necessary for the daily success of a dedicated apostolate, while through Reverend Daniel J. Kelleher, S.J., pastor of St. Francis Xavier Church, come the more intricate and closely related decisions concerning the personal welfare of Xavier.

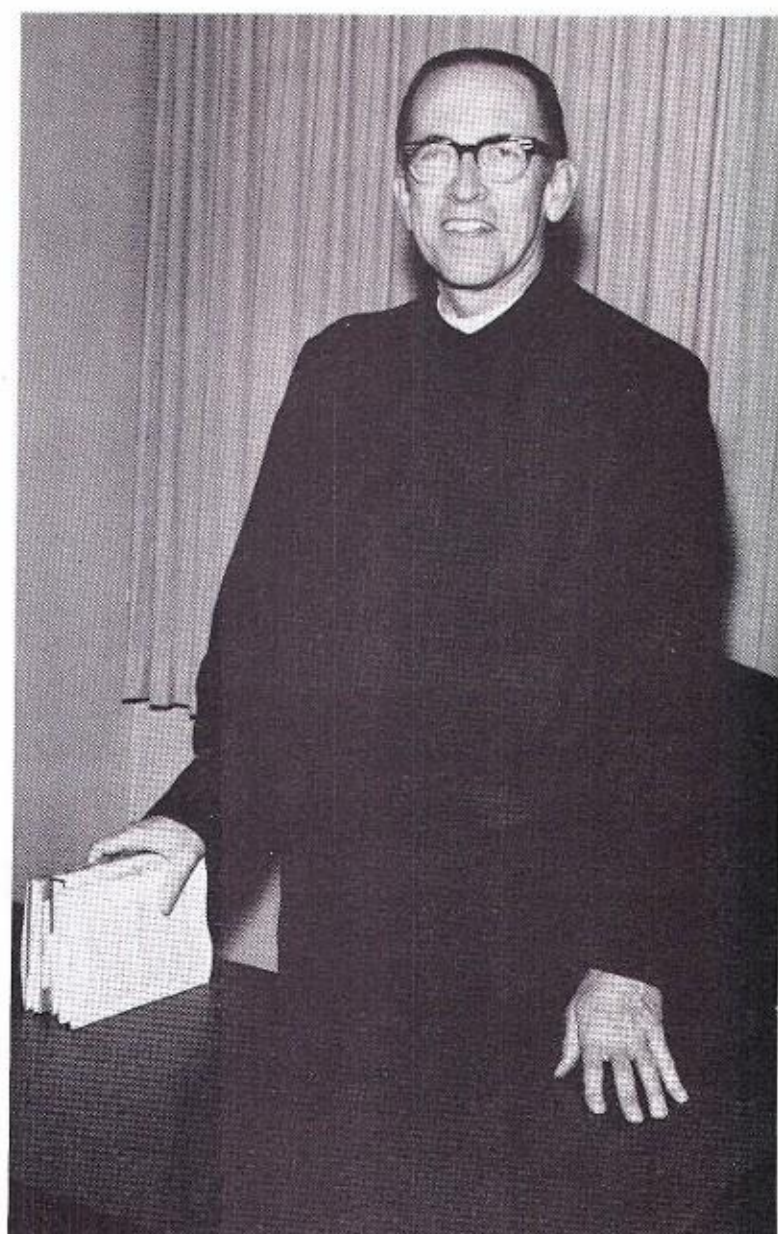

REV. DANIEL J. KELLEHER, S.J.

Learning, Life

The Reverend John E. Hopkins, S.J. takes a personal interest in the students of Xavier as their spiritual director and confessor. Often assisting Father Hopkins in offering Mass in the school chapel is the Reverend Francis J. Jansky, S.J. Both Father Jansky and Father Hopkins instruct the seniors in a weekly marriage course.

Finally, through Sister Mary Katrine, B.V.M., principal of Xavier, comes the closest personal guiding force — the helpful suggestions, the decisive answers, and the stalwart motivations to the students, that they may discover the benefits and joys of knowledge.

REV. JOHN E. HOPKINS, S.J.

REV. FRANCIS J. JANSKY, S.J.

SISTER MARY KATRINE, B.V.M.

SENIORS PROBE relevance of Christianity through informal class discussions. Topics range from interfaith dating to the layman's role in the Church.

Religion:

Involved In Hi Time Of Every Day

INDIVIDUAL QUESTIONING is encouraged as Jill Zwaska points out the value of spiritual reading to Sue Ryan, Rosemary Twaddle, and Sally Whitney.

Religion is no longer the sum total of confession on Saturday, Mass on Sunday, and no meat on Friday — at least not at Xavier. Through the Hi-Time Magazine, this course has acquired a vibrant, vital approach to Christianity. It's main goal, to make religion relevant to daily life, is accomplished during discussion groups in the classroom, followed by practical application of the results.

When the nebulous theory that every man is an image of Christ was tested, improvement in school courtesy was noticed, and a deeper understanding of Catholicism was gained.

A noun, plus a verb, sprinkled with a few adverbs and adjectives make a sentence. These collections of words then form prose and poetry.

Through the effective arrangement of these building blocks, great literature is born which not only provides enjoyment, but also stimulates thought. Devoted to inspiring an enthusiasm for the written word, the English teachers employed numerous imaginative approaches to the subject.

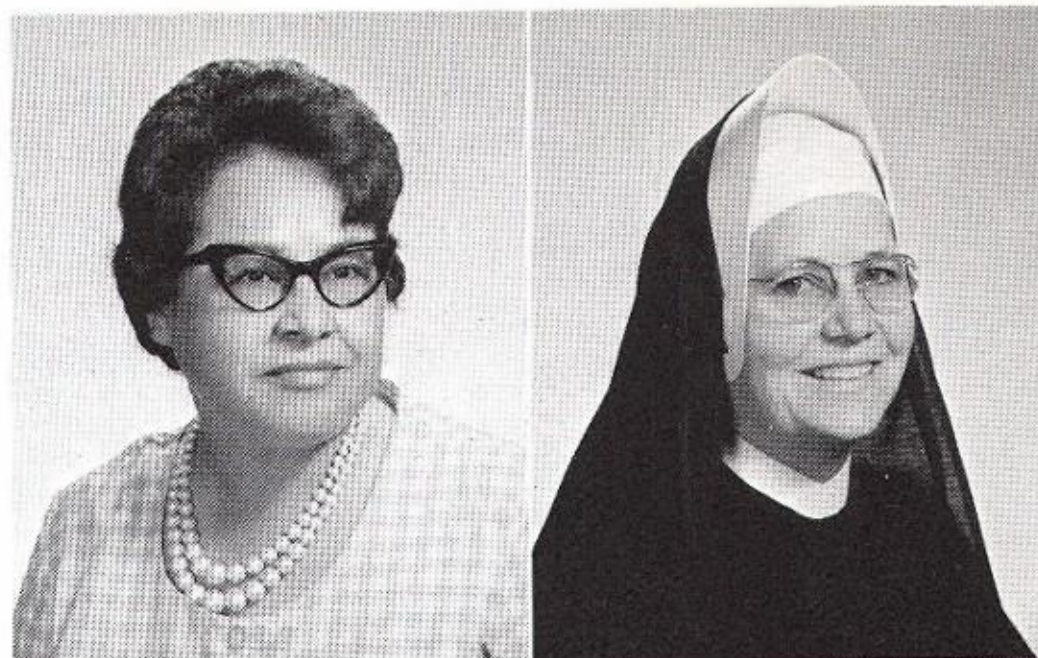

Assignments in creative writing exercises the students' abilities in grammar as well as original thinking. Panel discussions expose the whole class to famous books. This vigorous program encourages a wide sampling of all types of literature from Thurber to Conrad.

STUDENTS OF SHAKESPEARE deepen their appreciation of Hamlet through recordings of the play. All the Senior English classes enjoyed Richard Burton's animated presentation.

NEW ARRIVAL — Norma Burns and Judy Kreutzberg welcome Sister Michelle Mary, B.V.M. to Sophomore English and Religion.

SOLUTION A shows little reaction when Kris Korte and Alannah Kahley compare it to the control. Nancy Babington and Kathy Heames prepare agar-agar for their mold.

Amid test tubes, microscopes, burners, and shots of "Look, girls, her sweater caught fire," Xavier's future scientists labor long in the labs. Be it dissecting frogs, proving principles, or collecting gas in bottles, scientific curiosity reigns supreme.

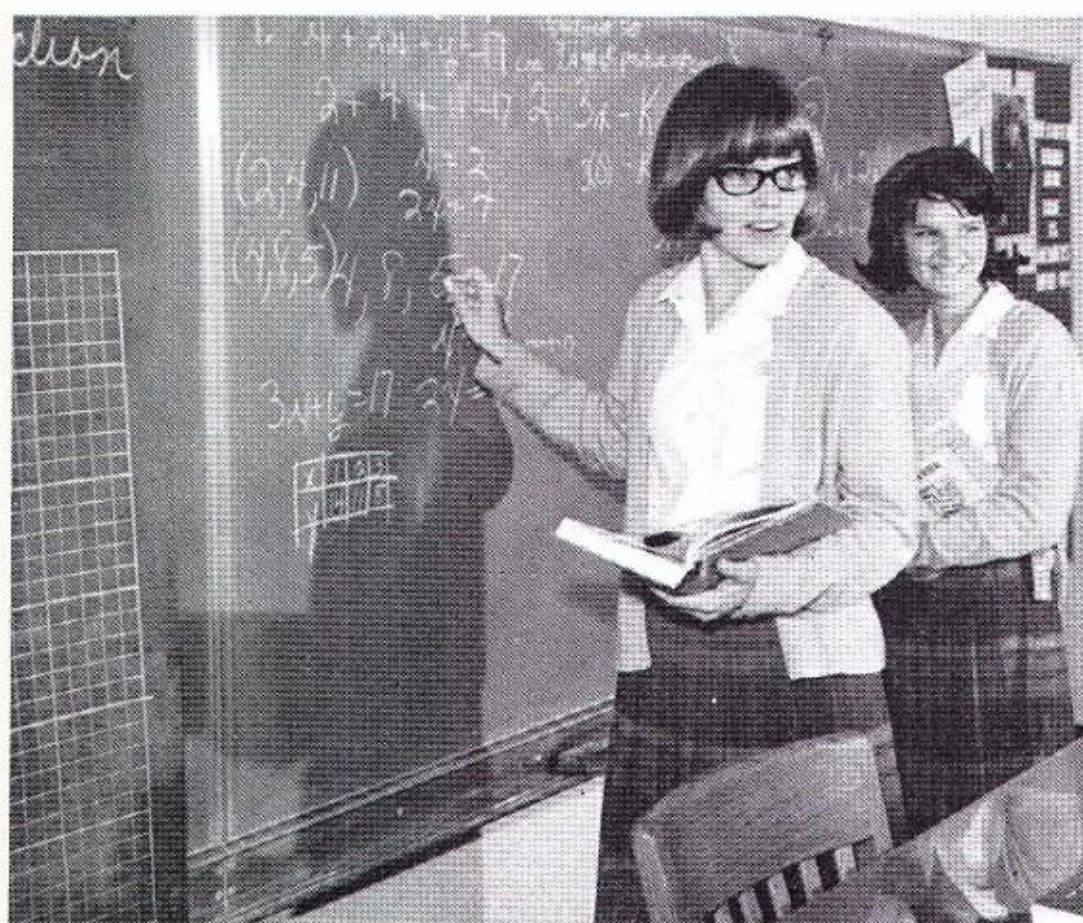

Weekly lectures supplement textbook knowledge, and a student's progress is checked by chapter tests. By undertaking outside projects, science students learn the principles of independent investigation and the value of science in daily life.

FROM A DIFFERENT ANGLE — Geometry students Bev Burger, Kathie Goulet, Mary Weems, Terri Day and April Anair discover characteristics of solid figures.

Mathematics:

Basis For Computer Age

INTRIGUING INTERSECTIONS — Juniors Ann Williams and Ellen O'Dowd learn principles of Cartesian coordinate system.

Logarithms, obtuse angles, and conic sections are all a part of the mathematician's working vocabulary. Algebra and geometry students explore the concepts of modern math while members of the Math IV class follow the more conventional methods.

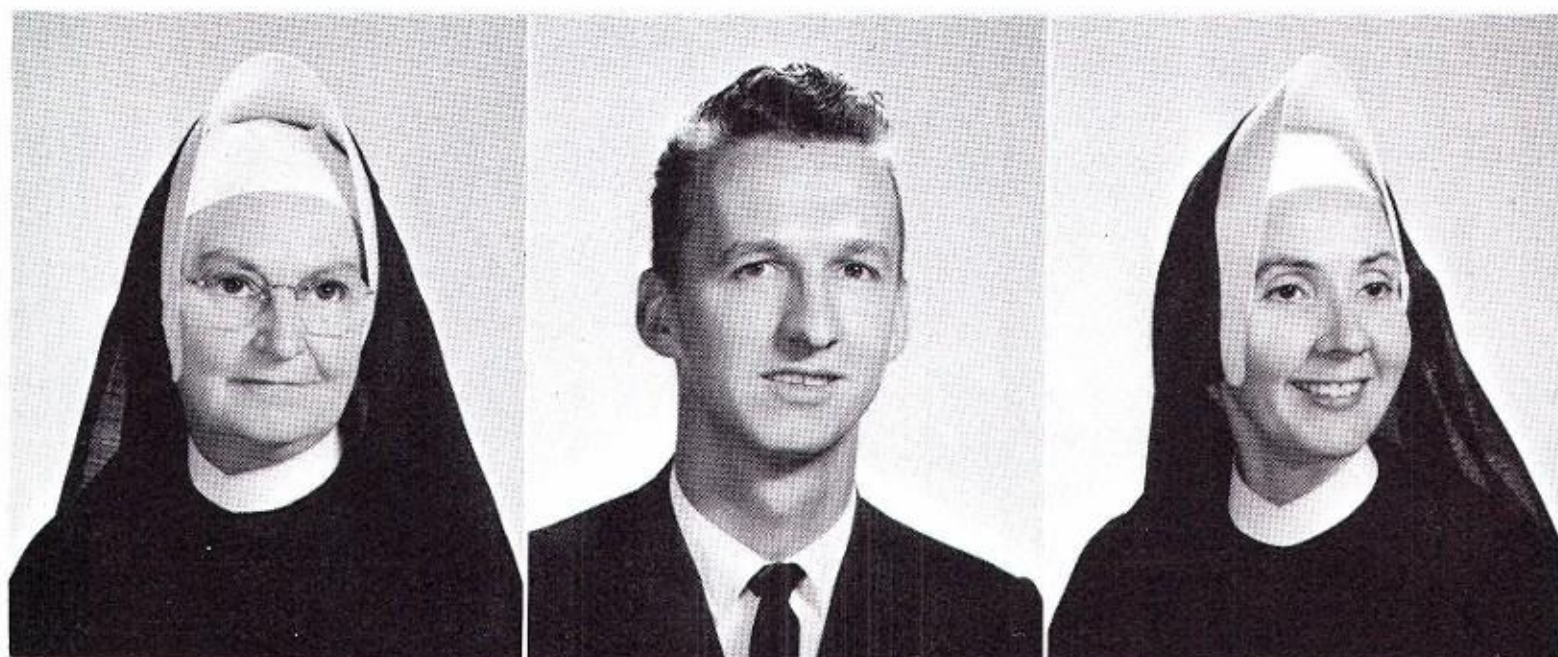

Preparing for the computer age, math teachers stress the importance of logic problem structure and orderly thought process. Sophomore students delved into the beauty of mathematics as they created the illusions of curved figures through the use of only a straight edge.

Salve!, Hola!, Bon Jour! These greetings are not heard on a quick trip of the continent, but at the beginning of each language class when students greet their Latin, Spanish, and French teachers.

To encourage an appreciation of other cultures, the instructions include more than grammar and translation. Many a day finds the Spanish department presenting an original skit, Latin scholars relating mythology to their stories, or French students learning about life in that country from film strips.

With this double pronged approach, the girls acquire a familiarity of the customs and tongues of many lands.

SMILING SPANIARDS — Beverly Campbell leads the Spanish II class in a discussion of "La Familia."

"MON AMI" Kathy Gregory practices her diction in French I, while Barbara Kearns, Elaine Gacioch, Rosemary Hensen and Felicia Goodrich wait for their turn.

Hammurabi and Churchill, the Revolutionary War and the "Negro revolt," the Constitution and the war in Vietnam . . . the study of these subjects, combined with the experiences of daily life, form not only a knowledge of history, but more important — a sense of history.

Also formed is a conviction that we are, at this moment, witnessing a piece of history, tempered by past centuries and destined to temper future ones. The facts of history are not isolated to the classroom but used as a guide to evaluate the triumphs and tragedies of our era.

We are, thereby, enriched by this knowledge of our world past . . . of human relations . . . for history is the record of man.

History:

Record Of Mankind

ELEMENTS OF PAST — Events take on a living aspect as American History students Bobbi Coppinger, Ricki Hebern and Vicki Areghini examine a newspaper of the Civil War period.

NOVELTIES IN NUMBERS — Danny Stevens quotes vital figures of our economic system. Since the Brophy senior joined the economics class second semester, there has never been a dull statistic.

TYPING JARGON — Sister Mary Cyril explains the technical term "open punctuation" to a Typing II student, Marilyn McFair.

SISTER MARY CYRIL, B.V.M. — Religion II, Typing I, II, English II, shorthand, Sophomore Sodality moderator.

THE QUICK RED BOX?? — Typing I students learn fundamentals of the touch method and what it means to develop coordination.

Business:

Halfway To Tomorrow

The business field took on a new look at Xavier this year. Though primarily a college prep school, Xavier resumed the shorthand class, containing 22 girls, and the typing II class added "CLASS" beside its name with the FIA (Fingers In Action) Business Club. The club is primarily a secretarial unit that types for all the teachers and this year has put in over 300 hours of typing carbons, stencils, and hectograph copies.

At eighth period, also in pursuit of business skills, were 23 boys from Brophy Prep. Under the guidance of Sister Mary Cyril, B.V.M., they gained the ability to type and enjoy it.

54?? . . . WOULD YOU BELIEVE 59?? — Shorthand students Dawn Sicher, Linda Milan, Jeanne Lambe and Kathi Hughes are permitted to check their averages in Sister's gradebook.

STITCH AND SEW — Advanced Clothing student Dorothy Hall prepares an award winning entry for the wool contest.

MRS. ELEANOR GILROY — Homemaking I, II, Advanced Clothing.

Clusters of mixing spoons . . . exotic recipes . . . button holers . . . and settings for four. Under the guidance of Mrs. Eleanor Gilroy, homemaking students learn the fundamental techniques of home management.

First year students receive a well-rounded introduction to a variety of domestic skills. This includes anything from patch making to planning meals around the basic four.

Experienced homemakers sharpen their skills in food preparation, while amid the hum of "touch and sew machines" advanced clothing students develop their talents in dress making and designing.

Each year girls discover the fascinating customs, foods, and meal preparation methods of people from other countries. A luncheon is annually prepared in the setting of a specific country. Girls put into practice the techniques they have learned which include interior decorating, costumes, table setting and food preparation.

Homemaking:

RED-RIBBON FORMAL — Senior Kathy Lyding models the wool formal she designed and made for the "Make it with Wool" contest.

WELL-WISHING WELL — Kathy Viterbo examines a clever well as Home Ec II students Nancy Rojas and Karen Korte look on.

ASTONISHED ARTISAN — Pat Johnson presents her influential critique on water colors to Sharon Loubet.

Xavier High has many departments to be proud of but one of the most outstanding is the Art Department. The talented head is Miss Steffes, an understanding but demanding teacher. Many a youth with unknown talent has flourished under her supervision. Her trade secret is a belief in promoting creative thinking, to help develop the individual, not to make artists. Emphasis is stressed on experimentation, teaching the student to create and solve problems. In Art I a student experiments with different forms from clay and paper mache to water color and tempra. Thus the teacher can evaluate the ability of her class and plan her work accordingly. But seldom is one field pursued exclusively, even in Art IV classes.

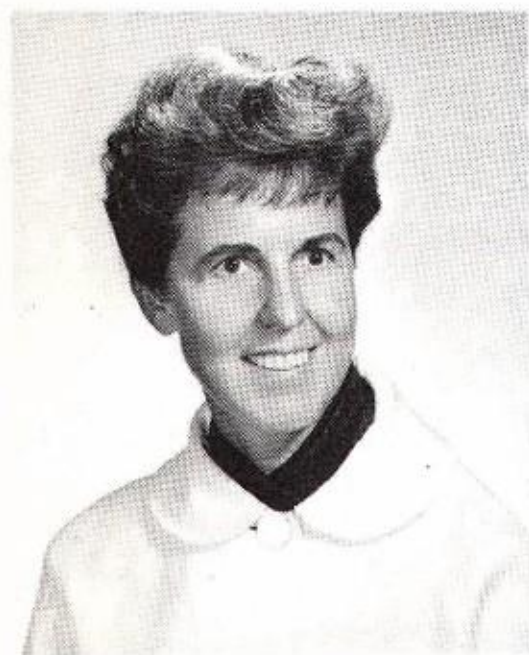

Art History is included in the study of art. Through this one gains cultural appreciation and a deeper knowledge of art through the ages, plus the inspiration for future styles in art work.

What art really means to each one of us cannot be expressed in these few words. Perhaps this short poem will in some way suffice:

I was blind and she made me see.
Now I capture what from my eye did flee.

Art:

MISS HILDEGARDE STEFFES
— Art I, II, III, IV, Xavier Art Association, Folk Club Moderator.

ARTISTIC GENIUS — Miss Steffes shows how to do it from the "masters' angle."

BURNING THE MID-DAY OIL — Mary Eileen Knoell and Jan Dahl, along with Lauraine Dwyer, Judy Muckerman, and Ann Kennedy, cram in the library for term papers.

VOICE LESSON — Carol Lohmiller sings "Oh, What A Beautiful Morning!" during her private lesson with Sister Mary Emile Rose.

"Ever sounding, ever speaking, ever pursuing." With 34 voice students, including pianists, 24 speech students, and 500 students in pursuit of 5,000 books, things can get rather involved.

In all three categories there is the valuable experience of research, whether an opera, a patriotic speech, or articles for a bibliography. Each of these fields is separate and individual, providing growth for the persons who avail themselves of the opportunities at hand.

The girls bring entertainment in one field, an inspiring thought in another, and those who indulge in the third field — their thirst shall always be quenched "for they knocked and it was opened to them."

Exercise, entertainment, and education can all be included in describing the Physical Education Department. Mrs. Eleanor Davey, P. E. instructor, sees to it that these "three E's" are incorporated into every class.

Ask any muscle-sore student and she will testify that exercise is never lacking. From push-ups to sit-ups, the girls puff and pant away those extra pounds.

Entertainment? Of course! From volleyball to tennis games a spirit of fun and laughter continually invades the courts.

Through the study of Red Cross techniques and first aid, the girls learn how to prevent and correctly care for injuries. The Civil Defense Course teaches the principles necessary for survival in case of nuclear attack.

Plans, Ponders For Improvement

In the wheel of student government, Student Council is the vital cog upon which the wheel depends. Its spokes, from officers, class and club presidents, to homeroom representatives, all reach out to touch the rim, the student body.

Whether it be participation and pop corn at the first school-wide hootenanny, featuring Phil Lucas; the praises of Christopher Columbus; searching for Rudolph the Reindeer's red nose; or an open student council assembly; the activities of the cog that is student council, are ever in constant motion, progressing to the ultimate realization of a vital and enthusiastic student body.

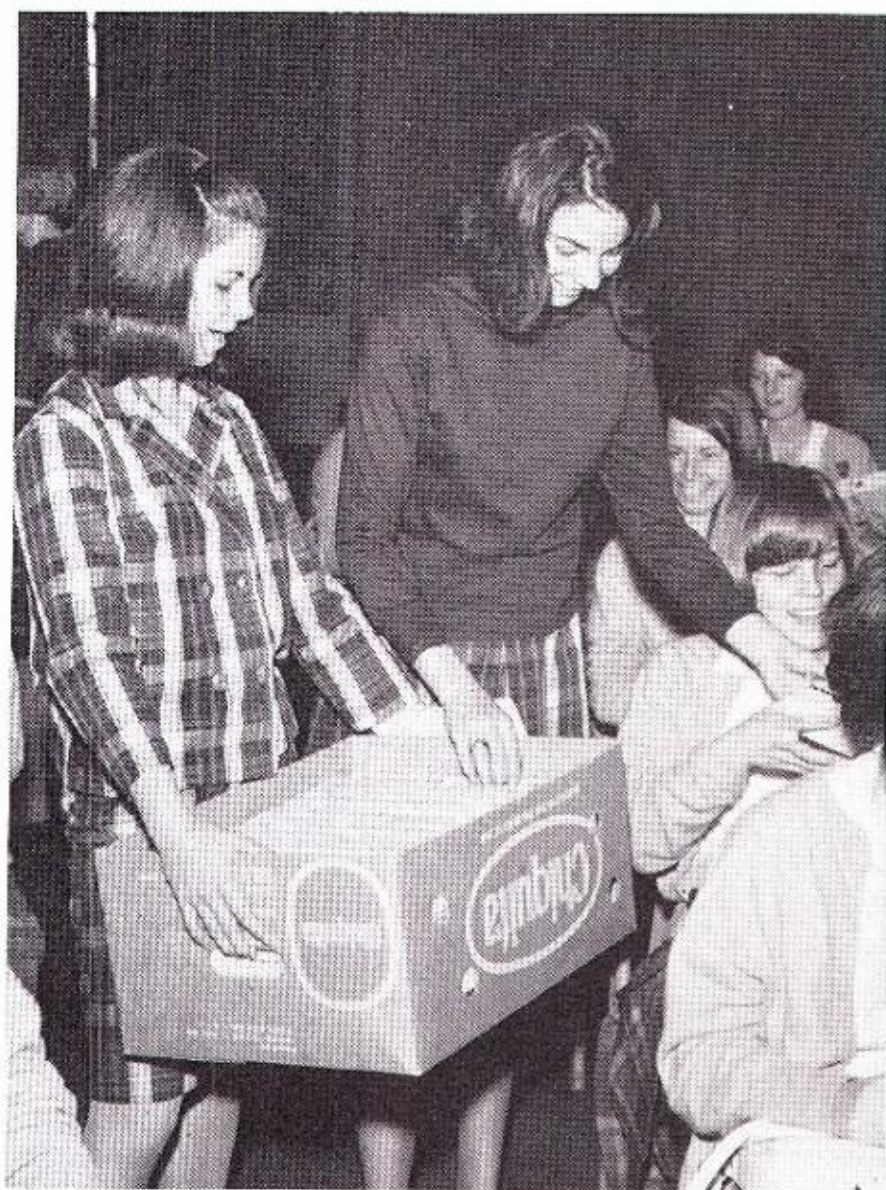

The steering force of the wheel can be compared to the administration, guiding our student leaders. Moreover, as the wheel moves toward its destination student government steadily advances girls to adulthood and maturity.

Toward Understanding

Sodalists Involved

"To Jesus, Through Mary," the Sodality motto, is realized each day by its members. But no longer is it carried out in an "isolated-from-the-world" attitude. By intelligent and searching group discussions, Sodalists seek to understand the different attitudes of various individuals toward the complex modern problems. Poverty, Racial, Ecumenical, and Communications, the new committee names, reflect the changing attitude of not only the Sodality, but also the Church.

The key word in any Sodality project is involvement. Members assist in the C.C.D. programs at Mary Magdalene Parish, and support the St. Vincent de Paul diner with homemade goods on special occasions. The Sodality also coordinates such student-sponsored functions as Bible Vigils, Lenten Stations, the Living Rosary, and the May coronation. Sodality officers perform a vital school function in its daily presentation of prayers and announcements over the P.A. Encouraged by this common bond of the teenage apostolate, Sodalists seek to instill a spirit of tolerance and understanding in themselves and their fellow students.

SENIOR UNIT LEADERS — Tessie Miller, Teresa Schweiger, Ellen Kennedy, and Patsy Thompson aid the Senior Sodality officers in making the year rewarding.

FRESHMAN OFFICERS — Leading the way for first-year Sodalists are Liz Espil, treasurer; Eileen Monaghan, vice-prefect; Patricia Stevens, secretary; and Melanie Supan, prefect.

YOUTH IN ACTION — Prefect Patrice Dela-grange informs the Sodality about the latest development on ecumenism at a meeting of the entire Sodality.

In Ecumenical Movement

WE SHALL OVERCOME — Mary Jo Knapp at workshop assembly tells of SSCA — Summer School of Christian Apostolate.

Glee Clubbers Find Adventure

PUT A TIGER IN YOUR CLUB — Mary Retzer, Nancy Driscoll, and Joanne Boyd help prepare for the annual Glee Club Dance, Safari A-Go-Go.

M. Retzer, B. Williams, P. O'Neill, M. Mualler; (bottom row) H. McGillicuddy, C. Staab, P. Lindsey, N. Rojeski, R. Jones, M. Bolduc, C. Novotny, N. Babington, J. Tindle, and V. Moorhous.

Through Song

"With a Song in my Heart" could very well have been the Xavier Glee Club's theme song for 1966 and their never-ending calendar of events. In November — "I could have danced all night" at the Safari A'-Go-Go scholarship fund dance.

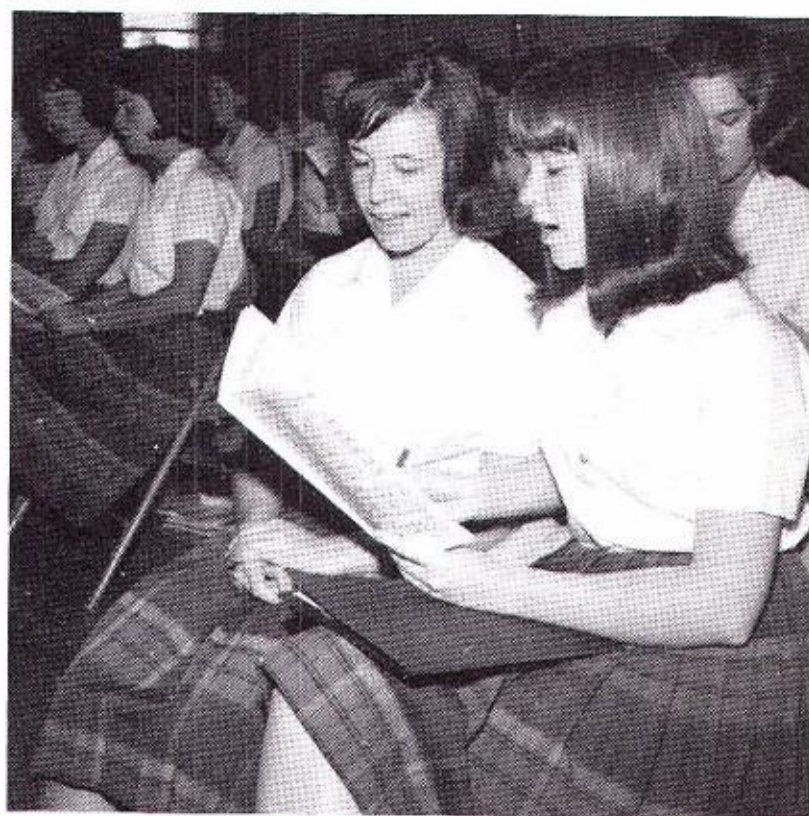

In December — "Pine Cones and Holly Berries" at the Holly Day added Christmas cheer to Xavier's halls — "Come, Little Lord Jesus" at the annual Christmas Contata, implanted the peace and joy of the season in the hearts of their audience.

"It's a grand night for singing, the moon is flying high" — in April — the "Spring Sing" carried with it the taste of the Hawaiian Isles, the rootin' tootin' West, and the Good Ol' Days.

Each of the Glee Club's concerts represented not only many hours of practice, but of team work, comparable to a full-powered human relations workshop. Plato said that music can lead to harmony of soul but without the generous, co-operative spirit, the music just does not come. This year, as in the past, Xavier's music came with the endless knowledge and patience of Sister Mary Emile Rose, B.V.M., and the added support of the A Capella Choir.

With Xavier's Glee Club "the hills are alive with the sound of music."

GLEE IN ACTION — Mary Ahearn and Kathy Corbett sing their way through another Glee class.

SHINE ON — To raise funds for Red Cross projects, Dorothy Hall and Maggie McGahern give Sue Ryan's shoes the once over.

STUFFING SACKS — Rosemary Naujokaitis, Sally Boyle, and Michelle Brooks fill friendship bags to be distributed by the Chapter House.

Cats are made of things like those. Rosemary Naujokaitis displays three-step method of animal stuffing, with finished project to go to the Chapter House for distribution.

Serve Community With Projects

Helping to carry the crosses of the helpless and needy throughout the world is the main objective of the Red Cross Council. By filling a disaster chest and friendship bags and boxes, it aids the victims of wars and natural disasters in getting back on their feet. By making tray favors for the holidays, stuffed animals and Christmas stockings, and doing volunteer work in hospitals, it brightens the stay of many a patient.

By showing films on Red Cross projects and having guest speakers explain about their work with crippled and retarded children and adults, it helps to make people become aware of and understand the problems which these victims and their families must face. And by taking part in such worthy projects, its members become better people, people who have learned to care.

POINT MAKERS — Chris Adams, vice-president; Joan Brooks, secretary; Judy Dowd, treasurer; and Barbara Williams, president, led the Red Cross Council for the 1965-66 school year.

HONORABLE MENTION — Leading the Senior Honor Society were Ann Williams, treasurer; Kathy Dougherty, secretary; and Veronica Zecchini, president.

ENTERTAINMENT PREVIEW — Vice-president, Mary Sue Gordon, emphasizes the arts through the cultural bulletin board.

Junior and Senior Honor Society qualities, which its members display from the time the flag is raised in the morning until it is lowered with the sun. By building character, NHS members are building a better future. By developing scholarship, they are perfecting mature minds. By displaying leadership, they personify tomorrow's leaders. And by rendering service, National Honor Society members are giving parts of themselves so that later these developing parts may come together to form a mature person. And this person will be possessed of a compound of all four qualities. She will be possessed of knowledge.

ONWARD AND UPWARD — Junior Honor Society members include P. Bayless, M. Supan, R. Shea, K. Vaubel, K. Lyding, M. Carrera, C. Bjorlund, M. Kelsey, (bottom row) T. Miller, M. Mangin, P. Baumann, M. Illige, C. St. Jacques, M. King, and M. Herseth.

PIZZA PARTNER — Mary K. Heyne sells Coke to Kathy Bailey at the N.F.L.-N.H.S. pizza sale.

BEHIND THE SCENES — Crew members Peggy McDevitt, Debbie Martin, Kathie Campisano, Ann Kennedy, Kathy MacDougall, Bobbie Coppinger, Mary Kay Heyne plan effects for production of "Our Town."

MAID OF ORLEANS — Sandy Coury portrays Joan of Arc in a courtroom scene from the play "The Lark."

IN GROVER CORNERS — Dave Myers, Tom Black, Mary Kay Heyne, and Kevin Manion portray a scene from Xavier's presentation of "Our Town."

In and out of the spotlight, Drama Club is one of the brightest lights at Xavier. The only requirements are a lot of energy and a willingness to give of yourself. Whether it be sewing costumes, painting props, or living a part, the drama student is one of the liveliest on campus.

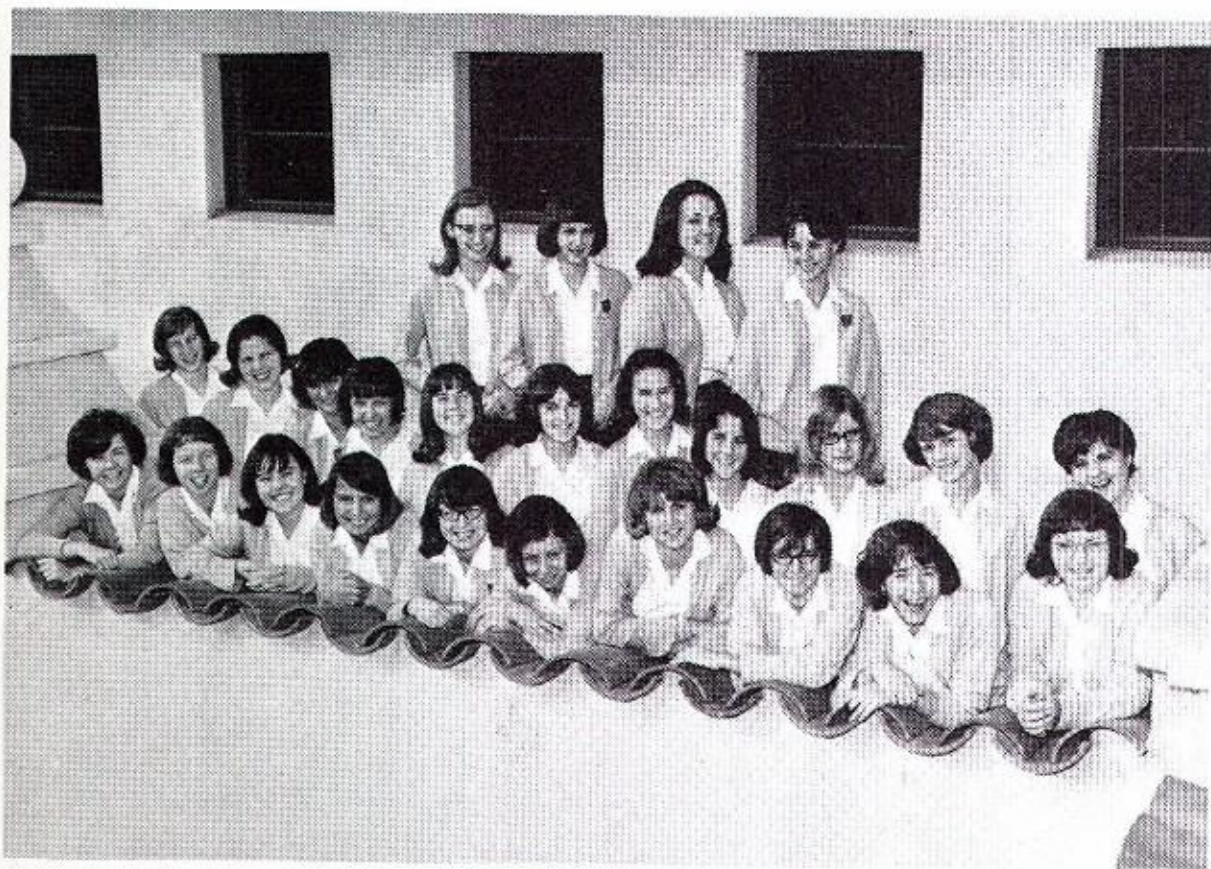

Here they are able to turn their energies to producing such marvelous "firsts" as a tennis-court hop and a joint production with the Brophy thespians. Out of its tremendous drive and unity, each member can emerge a more mature and perceptive woman.

Often found among the drama students are girls who are also members of the National Forensic League. Besides expressing themselves at speech meets through categories such as original oratory and debate, its members can be found in many drama and school activities.

SPOKESMEN FOR THE SPEAKERS — Maureen Monaghan, secretary; Mary Kay Heyne, treasurer; Carol Barford, president; and Pat Miller, vice-president, lead and organize the many activities of the National Forensic League.

YEARBOOK CO-ORDINATORS — Proudly displaying the 1966 Xavierian are Teresa Dettmer, assistant editor, and Veronica Ladensack, editor.

UNDENIABLY TRUE — The yearbook couldn't do without these three specialists, Cathy McBirnie, Donna Moore, and Mary Sue Gordon.

Flying words, continuous "buzz sessions," and controlled chaos prevails when a staffer enters the journalism room. From the minute she hangs her purse on the hat rack, she knows that the editor is going to get 25 hours of work finished in a few hours. The staff members are a curious mixture of creativity, enthusiasm, and brainstorming. Employing the collegiate style, staffers work in after school and at weekend sessions. New innovations include an expanded photo essay coordinating the theme throughout the book, a three-color cover, senior and sports sections and a varied journalistic style. Besides the "faithful five," Veronica Ladensack, Teresa Dettmer, Donna Moore, Mary Sue Gordon and Cathy McBirnie, staff members are: M. Ahern, C. Biggs, T. Byrne, S. Coury, V. Crossman, L. Dwyer, N. Erra, S. Garman, K. Heames, K. Heuser, M. Jennett, S. Justen, M. Mackey, K. McCann, P. McDevitt, T. Miller, R. Naujokaitis, J. Neumann, A. Rivers, C. Rohrbacher, C. St. Jacques, V. Zecchini, and J. Zwaska.

Never a dull moment! The X-Press editors are continually bringing in new features. The most exciting innovation this year is Man on Campus, an article written anonymously by a Brophy student. Another new feature is our Student Body president's column, Gavel Gab. To introduce the Juniors to the exciting newspaper world, they were permitted to put out the April issue in its entirety. Besides these new approaches to reporting, the X-Press can also claim another first — they had the initial "lickitysplit issue" out the first week of school.

A SPARE MOMENT — Active X-Pressers are, standing: C. St. Jacques, M. Stewart, M. Caniglia, R. Shea, and sitting, M. Haggerty, M. Davis, M. Erra, L. Rardin, T. Miller, P. Fitzgerald, B. Williams and L. Eckert.

POINTSETTERS — Linda Eckert, vice-president; Mary Ellen Farrell, point secretary; Patty Chippis, treasurer; Francie Lynch, secretary; Tina Heiple, historian; and Jan Dahl, president, encourage athletic participation in the school.

"Game point" . . . "A homerun?" . . . "30-love" . . . "Will I ever hit that bull's-eye?"

Such exclamations from rollicking Xavierites are proof of many activities enjoyed in G.A.A. Besides sponsoring all of our varsity teams, GAA members are gay participants at the annual picnic held at Encanto Park, chic models at Korrick's fashion show, and beauty queens at the festive Valentine Dance.

To maintain membership in GAA, girls enthusiastically participate in sports ranging from bowling to volleyball. At a year-end assembly, awards are given to members who have actively taken part in their respective sports.

ART OF EXPRESSION — Sue Chavoya, Cathy Pabst, and Martha Illige demonstrate their advertising talents in a poster for the Mother's Club production of "Molly Brown."

ART OFFICIALS — Corinne Rohrbacher, secretary-treasurer; Corki Drury, president; and Corki Stewart, vice-president; admire an original silk screen design.

Amid paints, chinks, easels, and clay, Xavier artists develop their talents to their fullest. Under the competent supervision of Miss Hildegard Steffes, the creative Xavierians perfect their old ideas and experiment with the new. After doing their best and still working for the better, the girls continue in their artistic training.

Projects during the past year varied from entries in the Arizona Art Festival to a spectacular art sale featuring the girl's own works. Also included among their activities were two profitable bake sales, showing their talents in more fields than one.

The answer is blowin' in the wind..."

The folksong, the graph of the times . . . Xavier's music department keeps abreast of the times by singing, singing, singing! Sharing in the sadness, joy, fear and hope of twentieth-century America . . . civil rights . . . social justice . . . none are excluded. As the musical world is the expression of the feelings and emotions of the entire world, so Xavier shares in the world of which we are a part. The folk tunes of foreign countries are by no means excluded, for the world is fast becoming a very small place and Americans do not stand alone. Nor do their feelings, hopes, and ideals remain isolated — for they are the core of the world's quest for peace. Maybe we cannot find the answer "blowin' in the wind," but we can keep on searching.

From this beginning, Xavier's newest addition proceeded in earnest to encourage participation in scientific research; the club soon found it had not only gifted scientists but shrewd business women among its members. It turned a profit of $75 its first month in operation by exhibiting members' projects at the State Fair. Following its triumph, a guest speaker was invited to give hints for future projects. New ideas were immediately used in the biggest activity of the club year, the Xavier Science Fair, a whopping success. With a beginning like this, there is great hope for the future (scientists that is.)

Card catalog, fines, call numbers, and repair shelves formulate library lingo. Student librarians learn the hard way not to mix Biology in Fiction and Reference in Short Stories. As moderator, Sister Mary Catherine Patricia, B.V.M., gives animated talks at each meeting concerning the Do's and Don'ts of library life. The Library Club also makes an effort to bring appreciation of literature and good music to Xavier's Halls by means of the club-sponsored "Arabian Bazaar Book Fair," book reviews broadcasted to the school, and occasional musical interludes on special days such as St. Patrick's Day. Pizza lunches and celebrations have earned the Library Club the reputation of being the best fed club on campus.

GOLDWATER SPEAKS — Mothers' Club officers Mrs. Robert Williams, Mrs. James Palmer, Mrs. Roy Heyne, Sr., and Mrs. Thomas Kennedy confer a token of appreciation upon Barry Goldwater.

Amid the hustle and bustle of life, the school's newly remodeled chapel remains an oasis of peace. Maintaining this haven are the upperclassmen of the Sacristy Society. Under Sister Mary Cunegunda's guidance, the girls have earned a reputation for being industrious.

Another diligent group at Xavier is the Mothers' Club. Under Mrs. Robert Williams' leadership, this busy club sponsored "The Unsinkable Molly Brown," with Miss Jane Powell as the lead. She appeared in person at a school assembly. Among the many and varied speakers this year, was former Senator Barry Goldwater.

THE "IN" CROWD — Xavier's varsity basketball team united to almost defeat Bourgade in a close game.

UP AND OVER — Lynn Rardin exerts the extra "OOMPH" needed for that vital point.

By the second week in September, the volleyball courts were filled with hopeful freshmen and confident upperclassmen vying for position on the varsity team. Combining skills and unity, the blue and white teams completed another successful season finishing with a record of eight wins and one loss.

Intramurals again proved to be a fall highlight, as amid cheering class supporters, the united sophomores outplayed the experienced seniors.

The basketball team, with a lack of depth to their determined play, failed to chalk up a victory during their limited schedule. Defeated in points but not in determination, the members of the team concentrated their efforts at practice and bounced back to nearly score a win over Bourgade in the final game.

Tennis players energetically chased back-shot, net serves, and lob shots while practicing for their up-coming inter-scholastic matches. Xavier netters faced South, East, and Camelback High in the West High Invitational and Tournament. Early spring matches saw Xavier losing to Paradise Valley and Camelback in close contests. Twenty girls entered the inter-squad elimination tournament which determined the first place trophy winner. Those interested in badminton fought crosswinds and glaring sun in their struggle to get the birdies over the net. In April, both groups competed in their respective sports in the annual State Meet at Arizona State University.

Relaxation

Relaxation after a full day of classes keeps Monday and Thursday League bowlers busy. Each week, the girls made their appearance at Camelback Lanes for two games of fun and exercise. Team scores were recorded, standings posted, and play-offs held between the league champions.

Xavier's future Olympic Champs practice free style and back-stroke techniques at the local YWCA.

The Saddle Club planned monthly rides in local desert areas with members receiving points toward their GAA letter. This year's rides were culminated with a Bar-B-Que at Cactus Stables.

ON TARGET — Xavier's Robinettes include: M. Conley, D. Schoeny, S. Torzala, K. Long, M. Delegrange, C. Delegrange, and J. Dull.

HOLE IN ONE — Future golf pros include: W. Hebern, A. Williams M. Flood, J. Brooks, Kris Korte, and Karen Korte.

Individual sports are a vital part of Xavier's athletic program. Because they permit each girl to excel in a particular sport; golf, ping-pong, and archery have always been favorites. Golfers schedule monthly team matches to sharpen their skills for inter-school contests. In the informal atmosphere of the south campus, archery and ping-pong team members relaxed with after-school practice sessions.

By the middle of March, the spring sports were in full swing. Trackmen intermittently practiced their running techniques in anticipation of the intramural track meet with ribbons having been presented to the place winners at the GAA assembly. Softball was the last organized activity of the year as the underclassmen-dominated team pooled its skills and desires for a full schedule of inter-school games.

PADDLES AND POINTS — Discussing the next strategic move for the game are Barbara Knack and Ann Lucart.

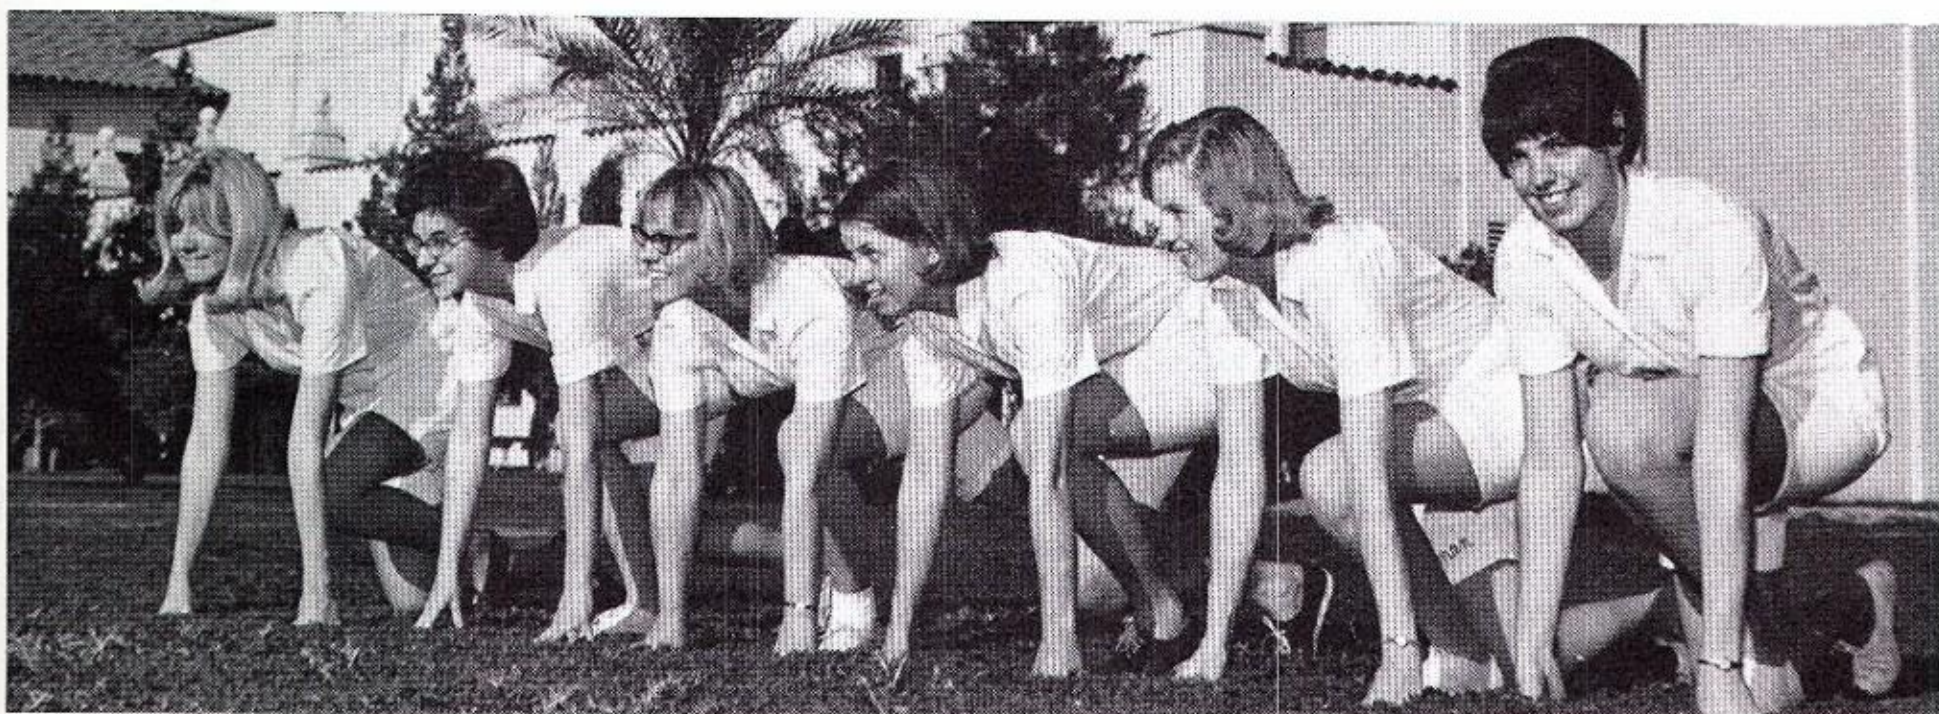

PLAY BALL — The south campus was the site for many a practice session, before the baseball season opened, by such girls as Norma Burns, Dottie Conroy, and Pat Fowlie.

With September comes the end of summer, the beginning of fall, and the start of school.

The empty halls are filled again, organization and rigid schedules enter the once relaxed and haphazard lives.

"Thirty days hath September . . .," and all of them are bursting with activity — initiation, freshman orientation, new club members, and new ideas.

September recalls the three R's. Realization —
the school has begun;

Recreation — with class parties, birthday celebrations, football games, and bus trips;
and Reflection — with elections, tests and Mass.

September brings with it the excitement of the new, the reverence of tradition, and the awe of what is still to come.

November Novelties

Discussion, Drama, Dance

A Whirlwind of activities keynoted November with a fashion show, a Safari Dance, and a wild, wooly, feast day for our Principal. Student Council opened up its doors and held a meeting for the entire student body . . . school spirit was defined . . . spontaneous ideas provoked thoughts of "How can I improve me?"

SAFARI-A-GO-GO — The annual Glee Club Dance, in mid-November, brought the African jungle to the Phoenix Woman's Club.

"ALTOGETHER NOW . . ." Juniors gather around the piano as they sing renditions of old favorites at their class party in November.

Generates WOW

Moments gone by were remembered with a flag raising for an assassinated President. The football season ended with a final fierce game . . . and Red Crossers polished shoes, ankles, and hands to raise money for the Chapter House.

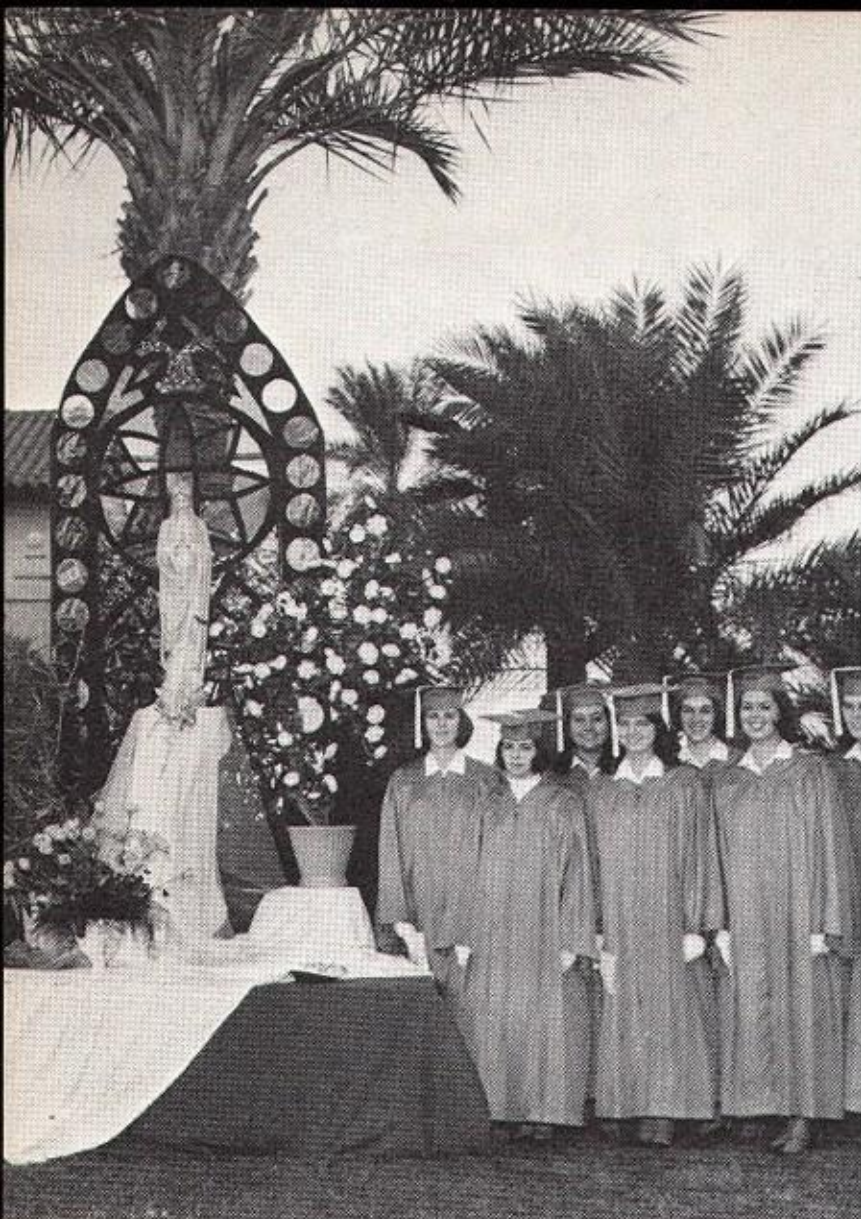

RED CROSS BUFFERS — The west campus is the scene for the Red Cross shoe shine designated to remove all the dust acquired in a typical hike to the cafeteria.

LONG AND SHORT OF IT — Mary Eileen Knoell and Tina Heiple model the "granny-mod" look in the GAA Fashion Show.

MIRACLE WORKER — Sophomores Sue Costello and Lori Santos portray Anne Sullivan and Helen Keller in the Drama Club production in November.

AVE MARIA — Seniors pay tribute to Mary on the Feast of her Immaculate Conception with the Rose Ceremony.

PLENTY FOR PISANAMO — Diane MacDougall, Mary Ann O'Malley, Cathy Wyatt, and Cathy McBirnie collect canned goods, toys, and clothes for the Indian Mission in southern Arizona.

December Doings

Projects Unlimited...

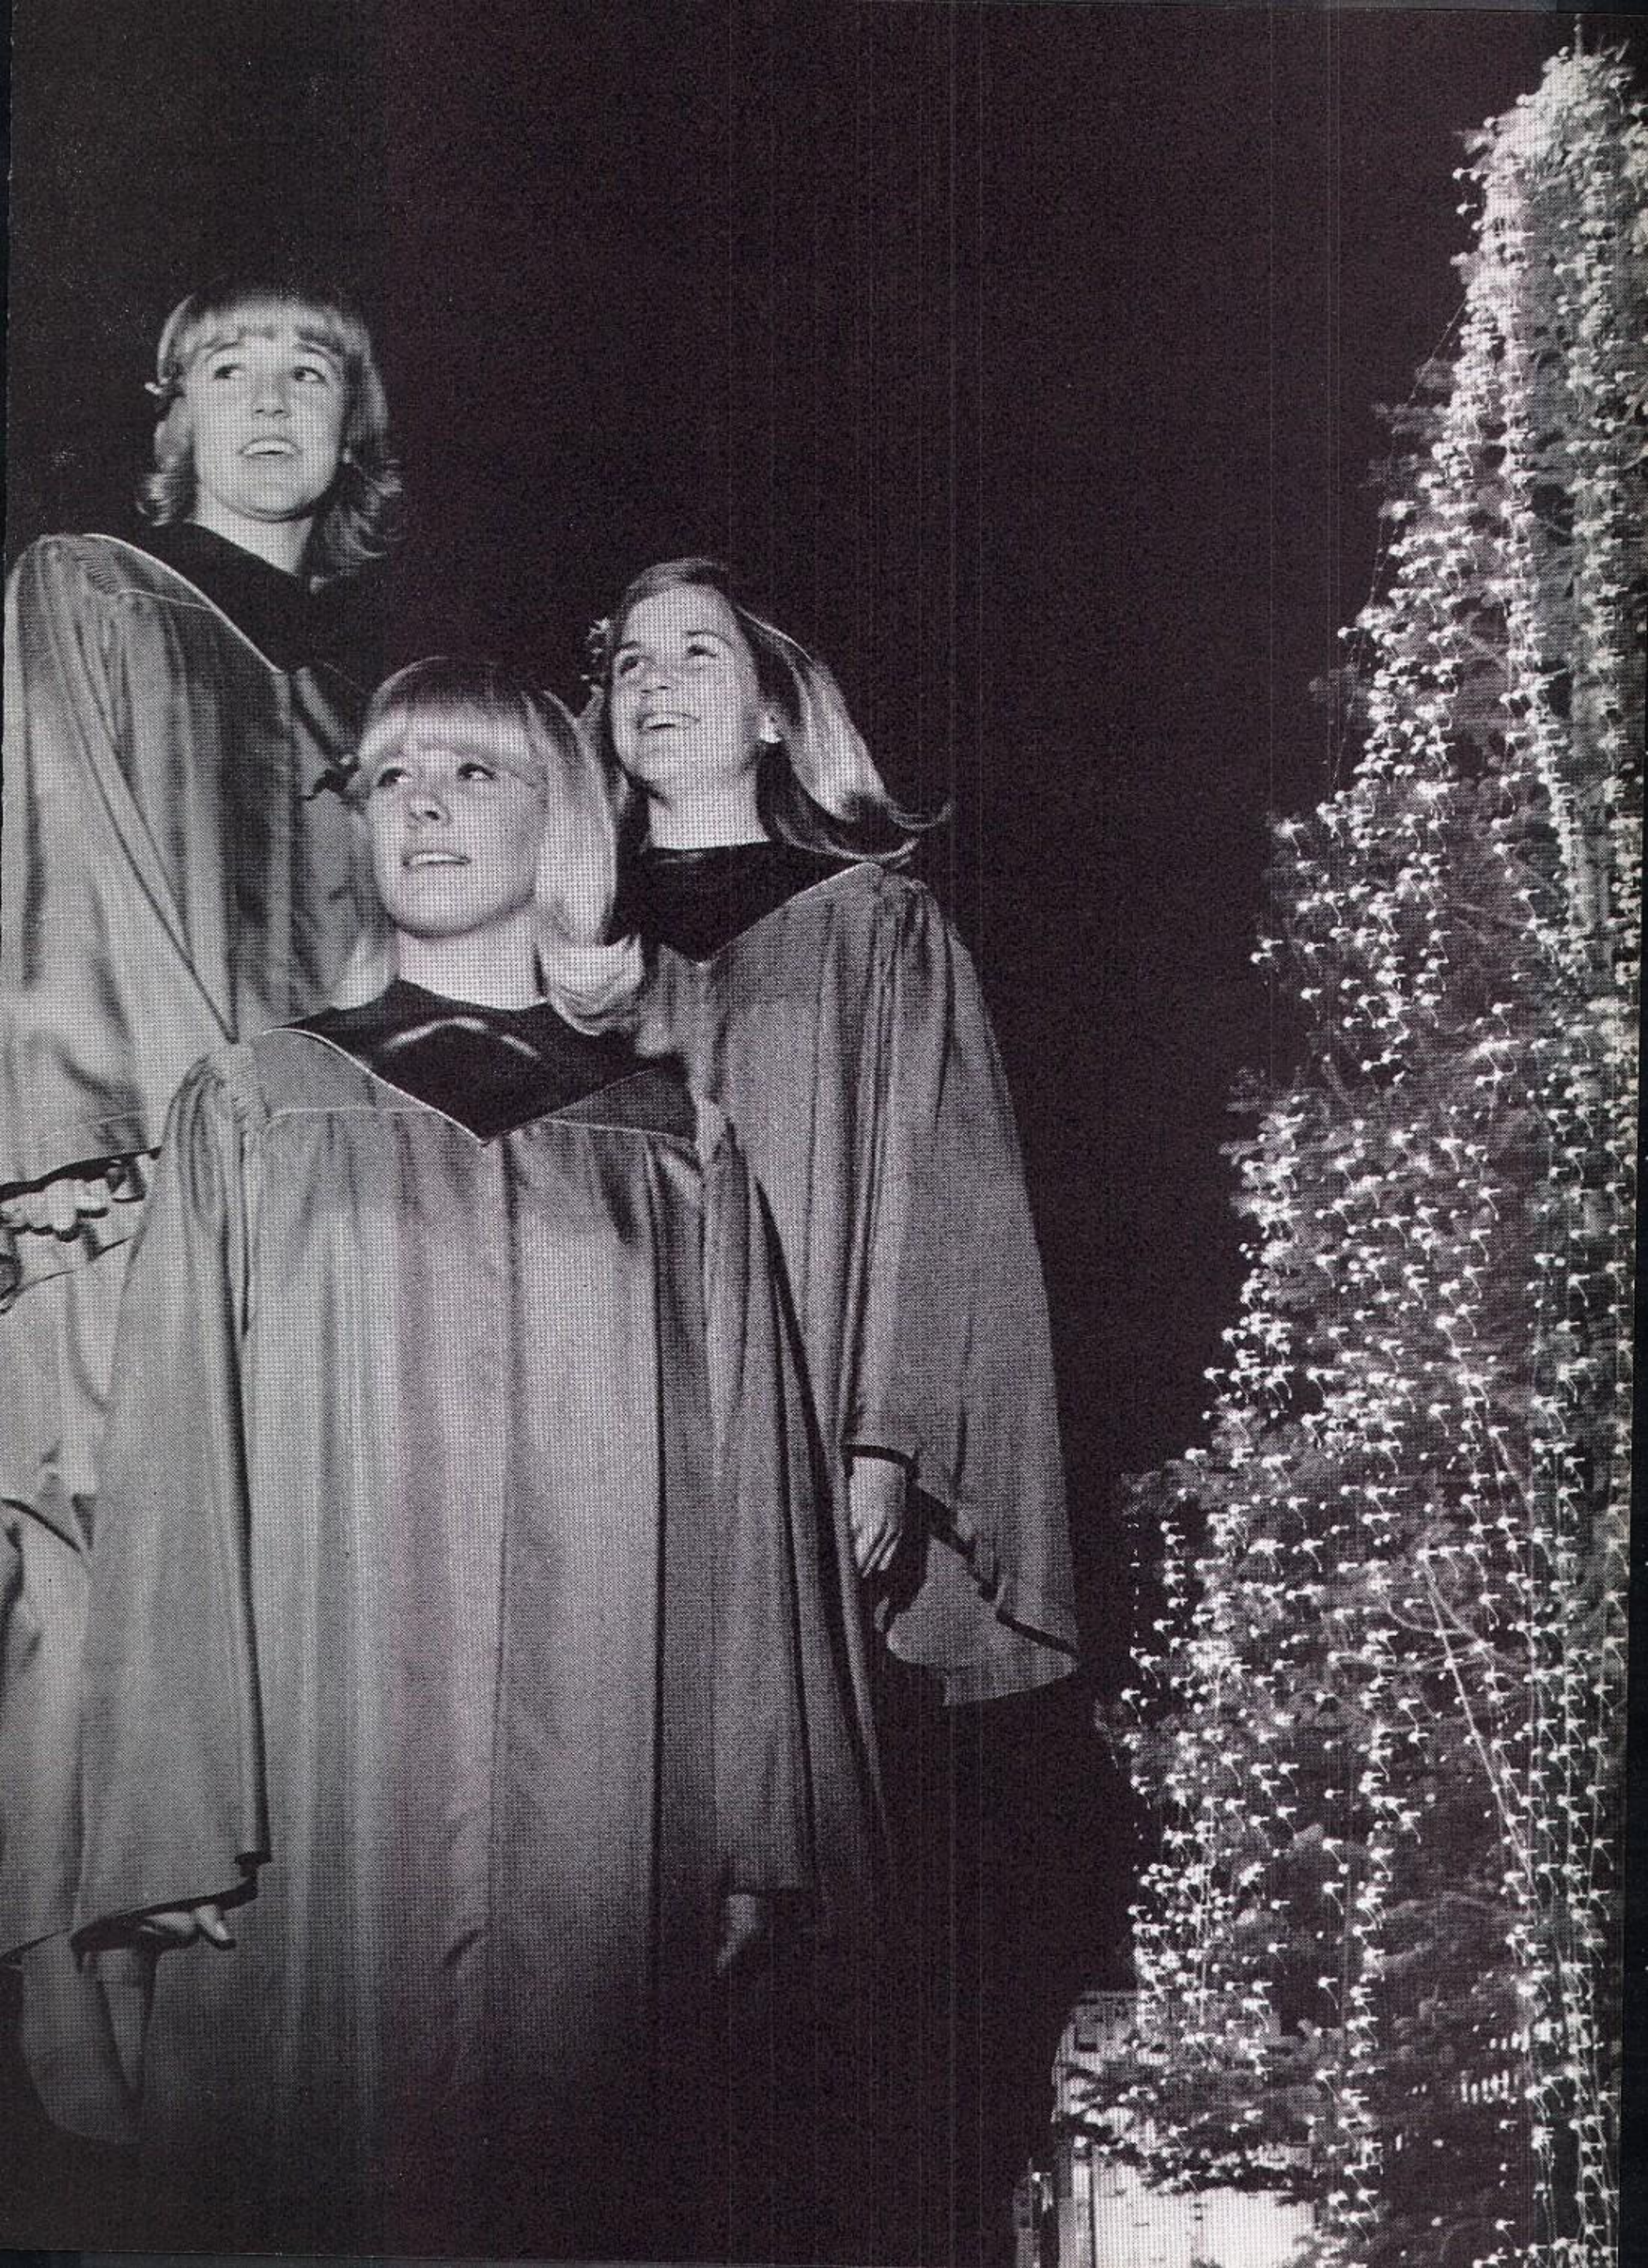

REINDEER RUN — Two of Santa's chief reindeer, Alannah Kahley and Joan Brooks, sort Xavier's Christmas mail for the Junior stamp project.

"POINT-SETTA" PENS — Nina Erra, Maureen Monaghan, and Kathy Dougherty examine the flower pens sold by the Senior Honor Society.

CHRISTMAS CAROLERS — Singing with the Glee Club at the Phoenix Municipal Center are Toodie Mueller, Donna Moore and Peggy Brown.

"AND THEN THEY ADORED HIM" — Shepherds Sue Steyaert, Linda Bezy, Roberta Brown, and Mary Eileen Knoell enact a Tableau for the Glee Club Concert.

HOLLY HUSTLE — Glee Clubbers Margaret Walsh and Alannah Kahley promote Christmas spirit selling holly sprigs to Mary Eldridge, Trudy Muckerman, and Susan Vitus.

December Delights

Social Season Swings

"PINE CONES AND HOLLY BERRIES" — Helen Haggerty and Amy Dwyer inspect the wares peddled by Joanne Haggerty in the Glee Club Concert.

Early December brought tributes to Mary as Seniors enacted the Rose Ceremony on the south campus lawn. Fund raisers marked the pre-Christmas season with the Glee Club peddling sprigs of holly and the Honor Society selling yuletide pens. Upperclassmen promoted December Spirit as the Peppermint Panic brought candy and raffles, and Christmas cards were delivered via the Reindeer Run. Holly-decked Glee-Clubbers sang the Season's Greetings at their Yuletide Concert, and the student body assembled for the traditionally Junior Honor Society sponsored Candlelighting ceremony. "Christmas Carousel" capped the year-end festivities as the Seniors staged their formal at the Safari Hotel.

QUEEN CANDIDATES — Mimi Maffeo, Patty Ronan, Kathy Lyding, Sandy MacDougall, Nancy Rojas and escorts await the announcement of Christmas Queen '65.

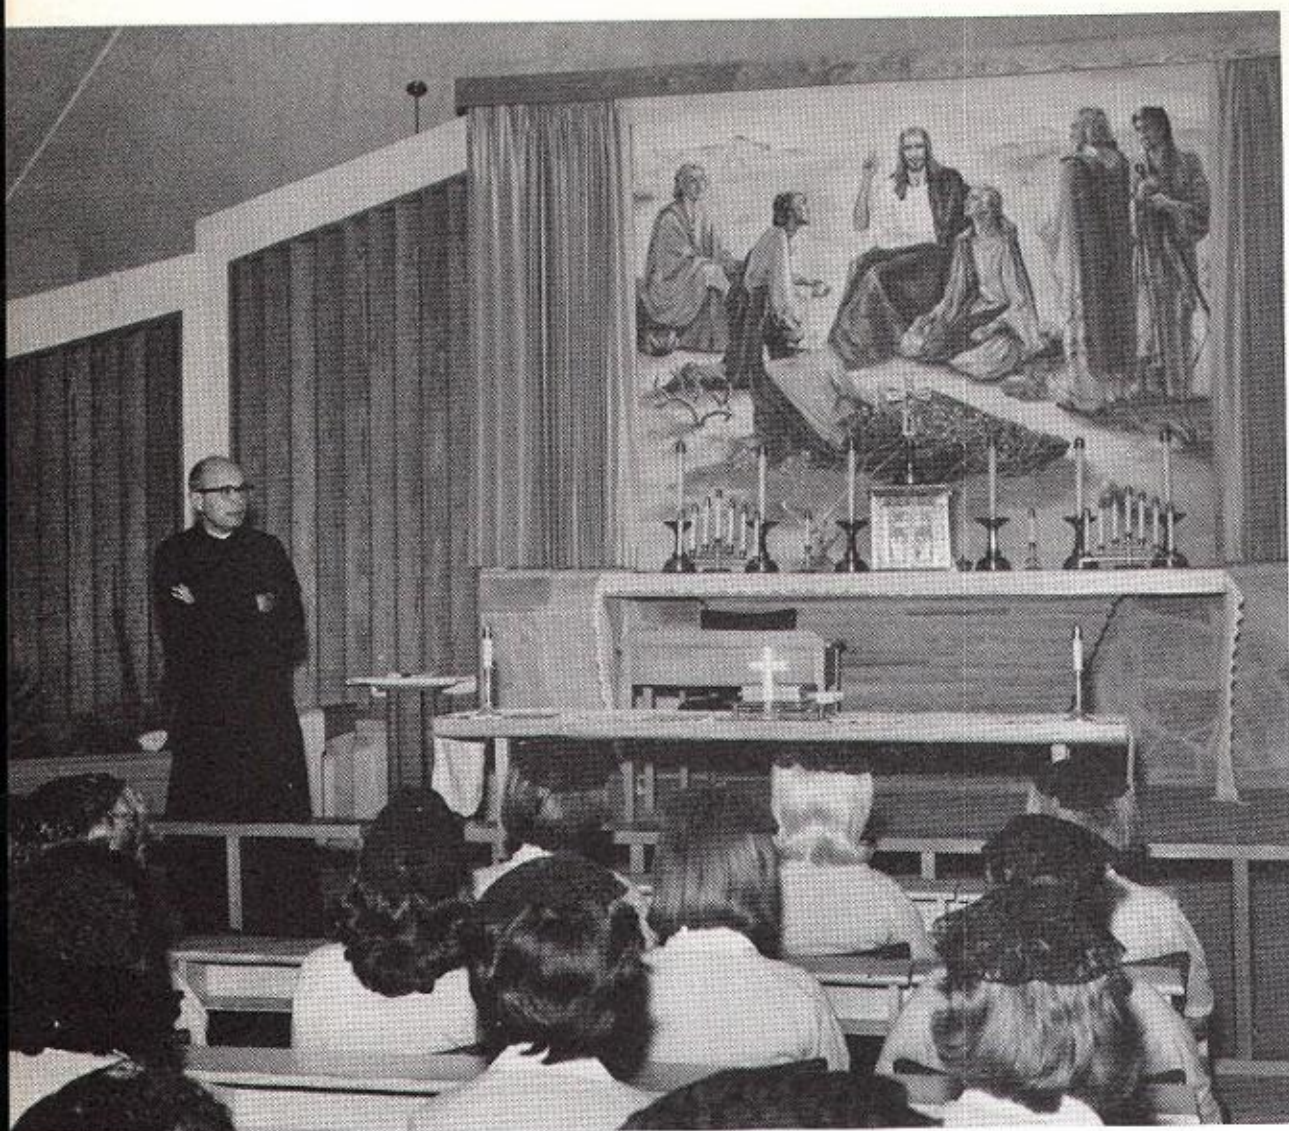

Into High Gear

CHRISTMAS CAROUSEL — John Pope and Sylvia Wehrley enjoy a brief interlude between dances at the Christmas Formal in Scottsdale.

CROWNING TOUCH — Liz Gaulocher, Christmas Queen '64, crowns her successor, Nancy Rojas. Nancy's escort was Chuck Boddicker.

SELF-RENEWAL — Seniors put their futures into perspective under the guidance of Retreat Master Rev. John Shepherd, S. J.

QUIET OF THE DESERT — The peaceful beauty of the Casa de Paz y Bien blends with the solitude of the soul into recollection during senior retreat.

KNOWLEDGE THROUGH DISCUSSION — Father Vincent Doherty, S. J., underclassmen Retreat Master, gives added advice to Corki Stewart, art, Judy Woodall, Sally Sullivan, and Sofi Gonzales.

ALONE WITH GOD — Solitude adds meaning to retreat as two underclassmen meditate on the love of God.

LOSER WINS AT XAVIER — Barry Goldwater gathers autograph seekers after an off-the-cuff talk at a Xavier Mothers' Club meeting.

OUR FAIR FACULTY — Faculty members enjoy luncheon prepared by the Home Ec department on Teachers' Appreciation Day.

n Exams vs. Resolutions

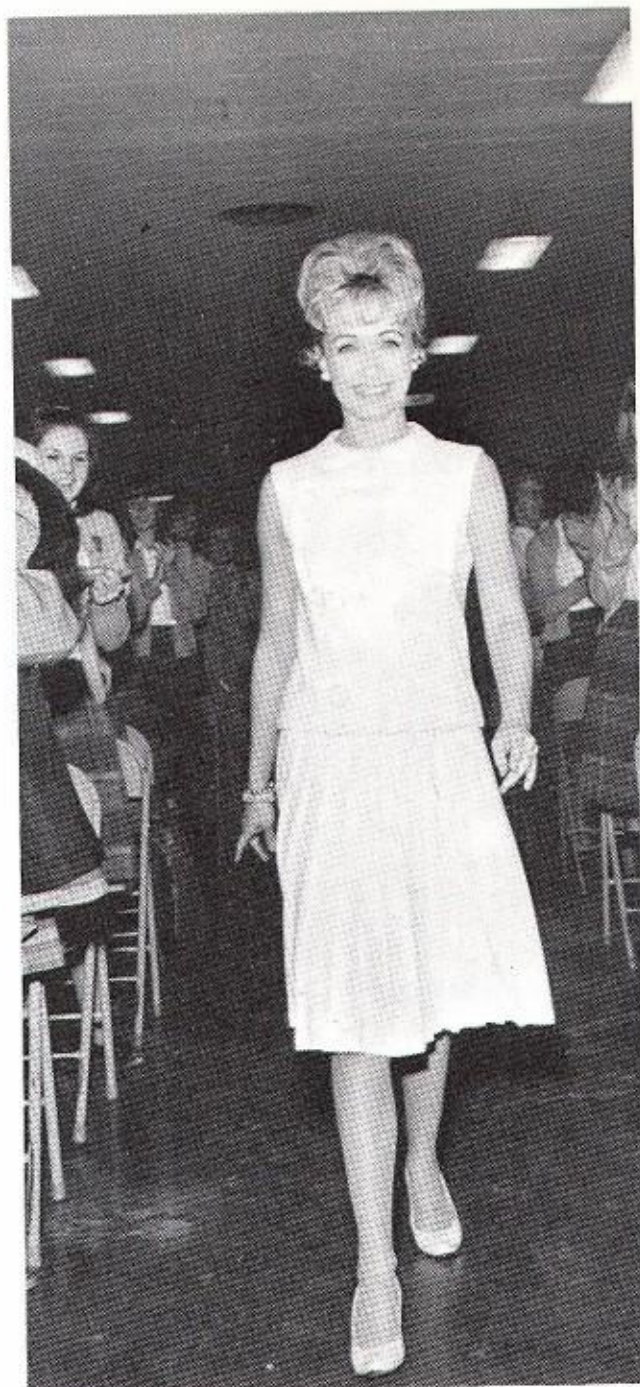

The new year's bells signaled the return to classes where determined students settled down to mid-year review. Both prepared scholars and midnight crammers faced exams, while under threatening skies and cold, crisp mornings Seniors began the official countdown toward June graduation. Teachers were appreciated at an Our Fair Faculty luncheon, and Barry Goldwater aroused controversy at a Mothers' Club meeting. Retreat was the time for quiet reflection as students set goals for the second semester.

FACULTY SERENADE — Student Council members: S. Coury, M. Delise, V. Ladensack, M. McGinn, and M. McLoone entertain faculty with parody on "My Fair Lady" for Teacher's Appreciation Day.

CONTROLLED CHAOS — Juniors enjoy their Valentine Box Lunch in the convent community room.

SHE'S MY FRIEND — Xavierites applaud actress Jane Powell as she promenades down the center aisle during a personal appearance.

"LET ME ENTERTAIN YOU" — Kathie Campisano sings to the lunching student body in a pep skit for the Mothers' Club project — Molly Brown.

BOOK BROWSERS — Rosemary Twaddle and Anne Kronawitter examine the merchandise at the Library Club's Arabian Book Bazaar in February.

Instead of the usual lull that accompanies February, a storm of events clouded the calendar: Jane Powell, alias "Molly Brown," barnstormed Xavier's assembly hall amid waves of applause. A pizza sale, Valentine's Box Lunch, popcorn and coke at a hootenanny first, a German luncheon for the faculty, and an Arabian bazaar of paperbacks, — All roared across the February horizon.

PIZZA PANIC — Carol Trygar purchases an Italian lunch from Lynn Rardin and Maryann Delise at the NFL-NHS pizza sale.

¡MUCHAS GRACIAS, SENIORITAS! — Mrs. Whitlow thanks her Spanish II class for the yellow rose corsage presented her in appreciation of her nine weeks as visiting teacher from ASU.

"PRETTY BABY" — Judy Pantner, Sue Dale, and Ricki Hebern just can't believe the change as they vote for their favorite in the junior's annual Baby Picture contest.

'Marching' Through April

Spring Bursts In With

BREAKFAST AT THE GIBBS — In a pre-opening night rehearsal, Chris Bjorklund, Roberta Coppinger, and Tom Black pantomime a breakfast scene from Our Town.

March came in with a roar —

a clamor of applause from "Our Town" was the start of a wave of sound that swept the month.

Wishes and sighs from science exhibitors

XHS SIGNING IN — Reporter Tessie Miller, Xavier's own Nancy Dickerson, prepares to broadcast her weekly news tidbits of student life.

April was . . .

a month of contrast — the boisterous laughter of April foolers, serenity, peace and quiet of Eastertide;
the furious pace of Fiesta,
thoughtful decisions at elections;
the relaxful harmony of the Glee Club Concert; impatient expectation for the ASU Science Fair results;
the sensationalism of election campaigns,
the newness of registration;
and the excitement of the GAA picnic.

"QUEEN OF THE MAY" — Sodality Officers Judy Dahl, Mary E. Knoell, Patrice Delegrange and Kathy Wallace, pay tribute to Our Blessed Lady during the May Crowning Ceremony.

From Peppermint Panic to Joint Prom

Novelty Invades Seniors' Approach

ICE CREAM LADY — Kathy Lyding passes out the goodies to waiting hands at the Orphans Picnic in November.

With unlimited spirit and energy, the seniors rushed through the year at a maddening pace. Highlighting the first joint project with Brophy was the Homecoming theme, "OURS in '65."

Christmas traditions were observed as the tree was lit — Candlelighting proceeded with quiet solemnity. "Peppermint Panic" characterized the ingenuity and pep of the class bringing with it fun and funds. Through "Christmas Carousel," the used year was gaily concluded. The enthusiasm typified by these beginnings extended throughout the year.

Muscles became sore and bruises were gained as the "physical stamina" of the seniors was revealed at the picnic for the orphans. Following the barrage of entrance exams and the semester tests' reign of terror, the seniors emerged with a record-breaking number on the Honor Roll. Excitement mounted as Prom time drew near and a mad scramble for suitable dates ensued. This same energy properly channelled, developed the mature individual who would appreciate the significance of a diploma.

Finally the optimism of the class was summed up in the senior prayer: I believe in the Sun even when it is not shining . . . I believe in Love even when I feel it not . . . I believe in God even when He is silent.

PEPPERMINT PANIC — Marianne Bolduc whispers the winners of the raffle to Santa (Chris Adams). Chances were sold for pictures, records, and dinners-for-two.

DIVING INTO THE PROM — Seniors enjoy the night air around the pool at the first joint Xavier-Brophy Prom.

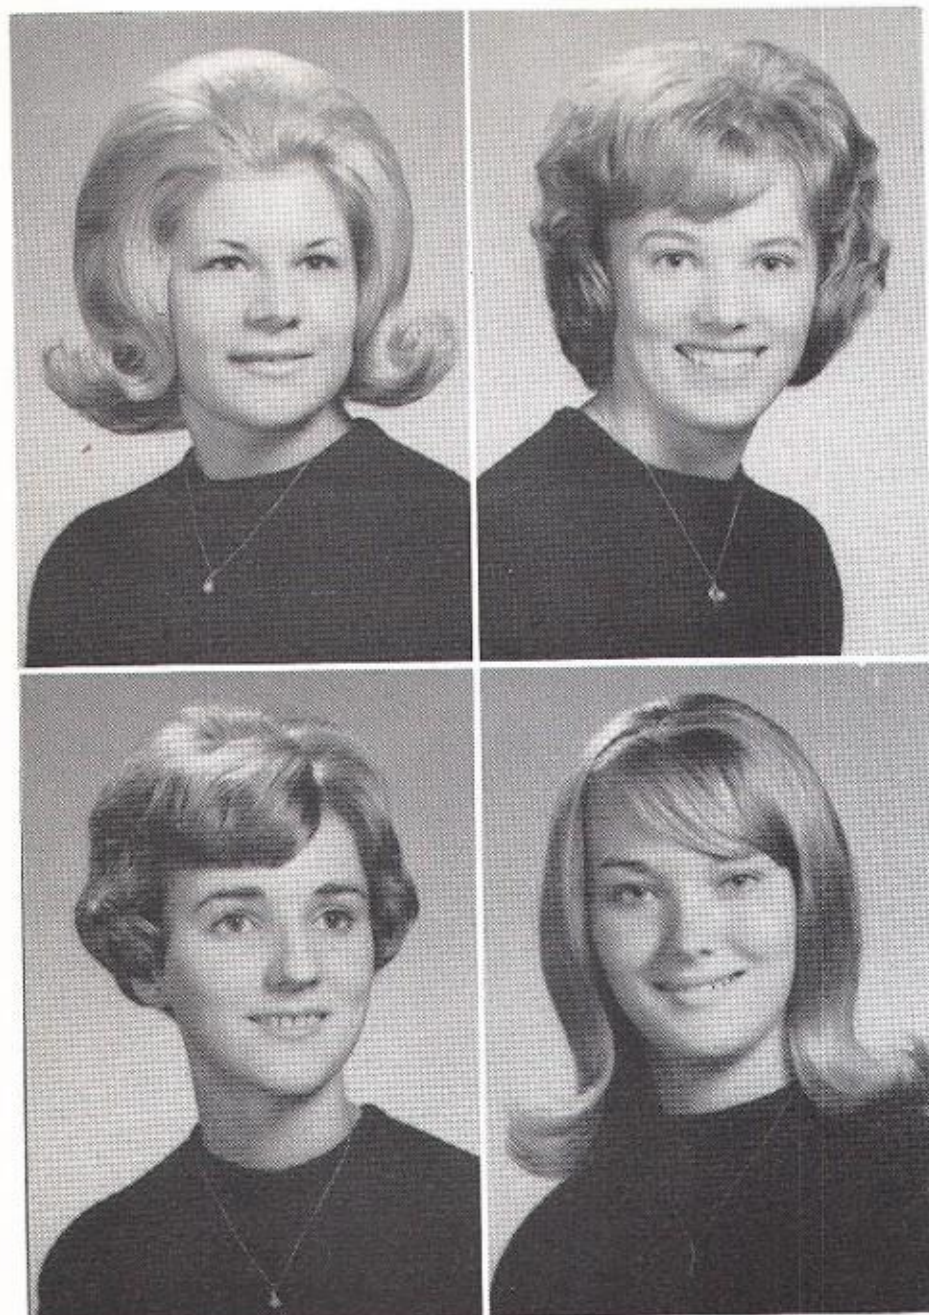

To Student Life

SINGING DOUBLE — Elena and Jo Ann Gemelli participate in the hootenanny sponsored by the Student Council.

MASS MADE MODERN — Seniors of Brophy and Xavier attend a Folk Mass which was characterized by singing folk songs and playing guitars.

HOWDY PARDNER! — Betty receives the key to the city from Phoenix Mayor, Milton Graham (Courtesy Arizona Republic).

Betty Ramos

GETTING TO KNOW YOU — Betty Ramos poses with her American Family. Standing are Oscar, Betty, Mr. Oscar Hochstrasser; seated are Mrs. Hochstrasser and Donna.

Hi!

My Name's Betty

After traveling thousands of miles, Betty Ramos arrived in Phoenix August 17. With gleaming black hair, browed eyed and scared, the 17-year-old stepped off the plane to begin a completely different life from the one she led in Bolivia.

Betty came from Santa Cruz, Bolivia, in South America. She described her town as: "It is not very many people and is very hot. My town does not have mountains but is very, very green." She has one brother, Carlos Roberto, who is 10.

Colegie Aleman was the German school Betty attended. It is made up of grades from kindergarten to high school and Betty learned to speak German there.

She was treasurer of the student council and captain of the volleyball team. She also was chosen queen of the city's basketball team.

As Betty ends her year with us, she plans on attending college in Germany. In her words: "I very excited."

First Friday—Senior Hootenanny Mass in Brophy Chapel

Would you believe that the 1966 Xavierian was produced by a dedicated staff of 500 girls?

Would you believe 50? How about 5?

Starting from the bottom-up, thanks goes to Teresa Dettmer, my assistant; Donna Moore, copy editor; Mary Sue Gordon and Cathy McBirnie, photo essay editors and specialists. These four of the 'Faithful Five' gave many hundreds of hours during study halls each day, after school 'til 6:00, every night at home, and all weekends.

To my staff (which fluctuated from 20-55) my every appreciated thanks go because of the fresh new ideas they interjected when everyone else's mind numbed. They helped put the last deadline together in two days and nights, working to sacrifice for quality and not just quantity. My every sincere gratitude for Sister Mary Katrine's optimistic spirit and willingness to accept new and completely different styles of journalism. Thanks goes to Mr. McCormick, our advisor, for his usual guidance and assistance.

The FIA (Fingers in Action) typed many periods for us fitting copy to layouts and typing anything for us at the drop of a "Would you type this . . ."

Mr. Duke, our photographer always popped up with the right dramatic verticle or striking horizontal and put up with our squirms or "How 'bout another shot from this angle?"

Terry Sullivan, did all the portraits for the end sheets' horizontal panel.

The division pages were also done by the advanced Art students of the first period who turned out polished products in one sitting.

The cover design was one of my own inspirations trying to exemplify tradition and simplicity with a new three color scheme.

The wood design identifies Xavier with its southwestern location and the smooth panel opens to run the theme of people across the end sheets.

Many people asked me if I thought the yearbook was worth all the trouble, lost sleep, mathematical bamboozle, calculations, organizations, and dedication. All year I kept thinking of the day when the book would finally be distributed — school stops for one day. Girls walk from class to class signing their books, yelling, "Did you see your picture on page 72?" Five minutes are spent on getting the class organized then the rest of the period is spent looking at the yearbook.

Although the student body count of 500 did not produce the yearbook, they make the book worth the energy it requires to do one. Be it 500 who enjoy the book, the 50 who aided in its production, or the 5 who take the responsibility and give the dedication, the book is for everyone.

As you look at your copy, answer the question inwardly. I know the book is worth it. I gave one year of my life to it so that you could have it for the rest of yours.

With love . . .
